PROPHETIC LITERATURE

The writings of the prophets have not been “done away with,” but are vital, timely, interesting, spiritual and badly needed.

Value of prophetic literature:

1. Gives a more complete idea of the history of the ancient world, particularly the Hebrews.
2. Gives a better understanding of the social, cultural and economic conditions of the ancient oriental world, especially the Hebrews.
3. Gives a better understanding and appreciation of the laws and rituals of the Hebrews.
4. Gives some of the greatest moral and ethical teachings the world has ever known.
5. Gives some of the greatest religious and doctrinal conceptions known to man; e.g., the doctrine of man, God, sin, salvation.
6. Gives some of the finest specimens of literature the world has ever produced.
7. Gives expression to some of the loftiest conceptions, the deepest emotions and most beautiful sentiments known to man.
8. Gives a background for a better understanding of parts of the New Testament.

Some purposes of prophetic literature:

1. To call back God’s people to a religious, moral and spiritual condition from which they had fallen.
2. To lead them on to a higher moral and spiritual level.
3. To warn them of approaching calamity or punishment.
4. To encourage and strengthen by giving promises of a better day to come; e.g. to help prepare them for the Messianic age.
5. To preserve records of the activity and ideals of the Hebrews.

6. To direct the nation of Israel (or other nations) through sermons, personal advice and divine revelations.

The work of the prophets:

1. Religious and moral teachers.
2. Advisers of rulers.
3. Promoters of the doctrine of Israel.
4. Reformers of their age.

The Biblical meaning of “prophet” or “prophecy:”

1. Prophecy is not limited to, nor primarily concerned with, the foretelling of future events. The message might refer to the past, present or future.
2. Prophecy is not limited to the prophet’s own time. The prophet spoke primarily to his own time and about the things of his own time, but could and did predict the future through divine revelation.
3. Prophecy consisted of any message of instruction given by God to man through a representative of God. The representative or agent in this message was a prophet or divine teacher. The true prophet was a speaker or spokesman for God, the agent through whom God spoke to his people.
4. Prophecy must be preceded by revelation, vision or message from God. Before a prophet could speak the will of God, he had to “see, perceive or receive” a message from God.

FIRST AND SECOND KINGS BACKGROUND

I. INTRODUCTION.

- A. The books of Samuel traced the origin of the monarchy in Israel and showed the establishment of the ruling family of David.
- B. The books of kings take up the history of the kingdom from David's last days and follow it to its collapse at the time of the Babylonian exile.
 - 1. The purpose of this record is not primarily to write down the history of the period.
 - 2. The books demonstrate that God blesses those who obey Him and punishes those who defy Him.
- C. The Hebrew title for this material is "Kings" for its subject is the kings of Judah and Israel.
 - 1. The nation divided into two kingdoms when Solomon died c. 930 B.C.
 - 2. The Northern Kingdom (Israel) had ten tribes and is sometimes called by its leading tribe, Ephraim; the Southern Kingdom (Judah) had two tribes.
 - 3. The Northern Kingdom had nine dynasties and twenty kings; the Southern Kingdom had one dynasty (David's) and twenty kings.
 - 4. Israel did not have one righteous king but eight kings of Judah were given some degree of praise.
- D. The books of Kings cover approximately 400 years of Hebrew history.

II. BACKGROUND.

- A. Like 1 and 2 Samuel these two books were originally one book in the Hebrew Bible.
 - 1. The present division originated in the Septuagint and was likely due to the amount of space required to write the material in Greek as opposed to Hebrew.

2. In the Septuagint Samuel and Kings were regarded as continuous history. Collectively they were named "Books of Kingdoms" and were identified as First, Second, Third and Fourth Kings.
- B. The authorship of the material is in doubt.
1. The Talmud (Baba Bathra 15a) says, "Jeremiah wrote this book, and the book of Kings and Lamentations."
 2. There are resemblances between the book of Jeremiah and the book of Kings. Cf: 2 Kgs 24:18-25:30 with Jer 52:1-34.
 3. Jeremiah was a contemporary of Josiah and the remaining kings of Judah to the time of the exile.
 4. Yet the events at the end of Second Kings were evidently written by someone in Babylon. But Jeremiah was taken to Egypt after the fall of Judah - Jer 43:1-7.
 5. The book may have been written by a contemporary of Jeremiah.
- C. The book can be dated with reasonable accuracy.
1. The release of Jeremiah occurred c. 562 B.C. Cf: 2 Kgs 25:27.
 2. But the book does not refer to the Jews being permitted to return home by Cyrus in 536 B.C.
 3. Thus it was written sometime between 562 and 536 B.C.
- D. Some of the sources used in the writing of the books are named.
1. The Book of the Words of Solomon - 1 Kgs 11:41.
 2. The Books of the Chronicles of Kings of Judah - 1 Kgs 14:29; 15:7,23; etc.
 3. The Book of the Chronicles of Kings of Israel - 1 Kgs 14:19; 15:31; etc.

III. THE MESSAGE OF THE BOOKS OF KINGS.

- A. The books attempts to show that the fate of Israel depended on their observance of the Lord's Covenant with them.

1. The tone of the books is not that of a dispassionate historian.
 2. It is clearly prophetic in character.
- B. The reign of each king is assessed not according to his political or historical significance, but according to his spiritual life.
1. Azariah (Uzziah), for example, ruled Judah for fifty years and appears to have been powerful and prosperous but the record gives him only seven verses - 2 Kgs 15:1-7.
 2. The worth of a life is measured in one way only - its relationship to Jehovah and His will.

IV. THE KINGS OF JUDAH AND ISRAEL.

- A. The books are constructed so as to allow for the telling of the stories of two nations at the same time.
1. The writer jumps back and forth between the kings of Judah and Israel.
 2. He stays in roughly the same historical period when making the transition.
- B. A pattern is followed in presenting the kings.
1. An introduction (by set form) is given.
 2. Specified events of the ruler's life and reign are stated.
 3. A verdict is passed on his reign.
 4. A conclusion (by set form) is stated.

V. THE IMPORTANCE OF MARRIAGE AFTER JEHOVAH'S DESIGN.

- A. God has always willed that marriage be for one man and one woman for life (Gen 2:18-24; Mt 19:8).
- B. Yet polygamy was practiced throughout the Old Testament period.
1. It is never commanded or encouraged.

2. The Bible goes to great lengths to show the difficulties which arise from it - Gen 21:1-14,29; 1 Sam 1:1-8; 2 Sam 11.
 3. A specific warning is given to the kings about imitating the oriental rulers in taking many wives - Deut 17:17.
- C. Solomon's polygamy was the beginning of the end for a united Israel.
 - D. When God's original ideal for marriage is set aside the result is disaster.
 - E. Under the curse of polygamy the joy of love and the peace of the family are blighted.

In that condition man gives up the sweetest sources of earthly blessings for the lowest gratifications of animal sensuousness.

Love, when it is pure and true, gilds the life of a man with a joy of heaven and fills it with the breath of paradise.

It renders it more perfect and more noble by the union of two souls and fulfills the original purpose of creation.

A home, blessed by life's most natural sanctities, becomes a saving ark in the days of storm.

The women of Eastern homes were idle, ignorant, uneducated, degraded and involved in devious intrigues with nothing to think about but gossip, scandal, spite and animal passion.

Each hated the other wives and each engaged in the fierce attempt to reign supreme in the affection of the husband she could not monopolize.

- G. Polygamy produces horrible results in its children. Murderous rivalry often reigns between them and fraternal affection is almost unknown.

The children grew up like their deteriorated mothers.

The sons of different mothers burned with the mutual animosities of the harem under whose influence they had been raised.

VI. MISCELLANEOUS.

- A. The greatness of this Biblical historian of the kings consists in his firm grasp of the principle that God is the controlling power and sin is the disturbing force in the entire history of men and nations.

- B. "God is the only final opinion" (Unknown).
- C. The remission of sins does not bring the remission of their consequences.

In Ex 21:14 this was provided as a protection to the unintentional manslayer. But there were now cities of refuge for this.

“‘Ask what I shall give thee!’ That blessed and most loving offer is made to every human soul. To the meanest of us all God flings open the treasures of heaven. The reason why we fatally lose them is because we are blinded by the glamour of temptation, and snatch instead at glittering bubbles or Dead Sea fruits. We fail to attain the best gifts, because so few of us earnestly desire them. Yet there is no living soul to which God has not given the choice of good and evil. ‘He hath set fire and water before thee: stretch forth thy hand unto whether you wilt. Before men is life and death; and whether him liketh shall be given him’” - Farrar - 1st Kgs.

27-30) Recovery and burial of the body in the old prophet's own grave.

- 22) Elijah increases the challenge with hyperbole but still draws out the odds clearly.
- 23,24) Notice Elijah gives the false prophets first choice and the first opportunity to prove whose god is God.

FIRST AND SECOND CHRONICLES BACKGROUND

I. INTRODUCTION

- A. These books seem to be unnecessarily repetitious.
 - 1. They treat the same historical period as the books of Samuel and Kings.
 - 2. Over half of the material in these books is a duplication of information contained in previous Old Testament books.
- B. The difference is that these books review this same information from a different perspective and with a specific goal in view.
- C. The name of the book:
 - 1. In the Hebrew Bible these two books bear the title of “the words of the days.” It is evident from 1 Chron 27:24 that the term is used in the sense of annals.
 - 2. It is called “Of Things Omitted” in the Septuagint and Latin versions prior to Jerome’s Vulgate.
 - 3. It is called “Chronicles” in the English Bibles following the change of name given by Jerome.
- D. In the Hebrew Bible, Chronicles is the last book while in the English Bibles it is placed after Kings following the Septuagint and Vulgate orders.
- E. The books of Chronicles were written late in Old Testament history (after the return from the Babylonian captivity) and were designed to impress the returnees with their spiritual heritage.
 - 1. The writer wanted these returning Jews to see themselves as the continuation of the Davidic kingdom.
 - 2. He also wanted them to be strongly aligned to Jehovah, the temple, the priesthood and the covenant.
- F. The material covers the period from Adam to the return of the people from Babylonian captivity.

II. BACKGROUND

- A. The books originally formed a single book in the Hebrew Bible and were most likely joined with the books of Ezra and Nehemiah in their earliest days.
- B. Tradition assigns their authorship to Ezra.
 - 1. The Talmud (Bara Bathra 15a) declares Ezra as the writer.
 - 2. Ezra was a skilled scribe in the post-exilic period. Cf: Ezra 7:6.
 - 3. The Chronicles close with the edict of Cyrus which summons the Jews to return to Jerusalem to build the temple.
 - a. The book of Ezra begins with the same edict but gives it more completely than the Chronicles.
 - b. From this relationship with the book of Ezra many have drawn the conclusion that Ezra is also the author of Chronicles.
- C. The historical setting for the writing of Chronicles must take the following facts into consideration:
 - 1. Cyrus' proclamation of 536 B.C. allowed the Jews to return to their homeland - 2 Chron 36:22,23.
 - 2. Ezra returned to Jerusalem about 458 B.C. "in the seventh year of the king." This was Artaxerxes I, ruler of Persia from 465 to 423 B.C. Cf: Ezra 7:8.
 - 3. Although the temple had been rebuilt (520-515 B.C.) the people were lax about their spiritual duties.
 - 4. Under Nehemiah's leadership there existed a set of circumstances favorable to the writing of a book such as the Chronicles.
- D. In order to provide the proper historical background for the restored Jewish state the author stressed the nation's heritage and unbroken connection with the patriarchs.
- E. The language of the Chronicles shows that it comes from the general period of Ezra about 450-425 B.C.

III. THE MESSAGE OF THE CHRONICLES

- A. With the exiles home from Babylon it was important that they be reminded of their covenant relationship with the Lord.
- B. They needed to be impressed with the fact that their covenant relationship was safeguarded through the divinely ordained worship at the temple and the priesthood which administered that worship.
 - 1. Although the temple had been rebuilt it was being neglected by the people.
 - 2. Religious revival could not occur apart from the restoration of the people's worship there.
 - 3. By reminding the people of the glory of that which God had given them, the writer hopes to convince them that true well being and blessings will come only by obedience to the theocratic principles which Jehovah had established.
- C. The message of Chronicles is that the Jews restored to their homeland should see themselves as the true continuation of Jehovah's promise-keeping work to Abraham's descendants and that they should act accordingly.
 - 1. The territory of the Northern Kingdom was occupied by the Samaritans who regarded themselves as heirs to the covenant made to Abraham. Chronicles rejects this idea that these people of mixed heritage could be God's chosen people.
 - 2. The holy temple and the holy city were to be seen in a unique light in that true worship is a necessary part of honoring the covenant the returnees have with God.
- D. Chronicles is not a mere repetition of the material in Samuel and Kings.
 - 1. The earlier books provided a political history of the nation from a prophetic point of view.
 - 2. Chronicles is a religious history written from the priestly point of view.
